Nature Photography Workshop for Senior Citizens at Longue Vue House and Gardens

Pontchartrain Park Senior Citizen Center's Nature Photography Workshop at Longue Vue House and Gardens Estate was recently presented by the Gulf South Photography Project (GSPP).

On Friday, June 29th, 2012, the Gulf South Photography Project (GSPP) conducted the third in a series of nature photography workshops for 15 members of the Pontchartrain Park Senior Citizen Center. The workshops were conducted by GSPP's founder and director, Jim Belfon, a New Orleans based, independent professional photographer. The nature photography workshop took place on the estate of Longue Vue House and Garden in New Orleans.

After the photographs have been selected, printed, matted, and framed, they will be featured in several group exhibitions throughout the Metro Area, including the Main Gallery of the New Orleans Council on the Arts in the CBD.

Gulf South Photography Project is a six year-old, full-service photographic learning environment. It provides a wide variety of artistic, recreational, and career building classes and workshops for children, young adults, and senior citizens throughout the Gulf Coast Region.
